

Bill Carroll

2009 Associate of the Year...

A serious industrial accident in 2003 nearly cost Bill Carroll Jr. of Bellevue his life. The permanent disabilities he suffered greatly limited the kinds of work he could do following his recovery. The future looked bleak.

However, in 2007 Bill signed up for training through Goodwill Industries, and that was all it took – for him and us!

Bill has gone from being a program participant to a part-time Goodwill employee. What's more, he's done such a good job he was selected as our 2009 Associate of the Year.

“Goodwill was truly a blessing for me. The training I received eventually led to a job, and that's the neat part – not only because I'm earning income, but because I really enjoy working there,” he said. And it shows!

Yes, Goodwill may have been a blessing for Bill, but he's been a blessing to us many times over.
